Volunteer Ireland: Community Resilience Survey

Community Resilience – We want to hear from you

Volunteer Ireland and our European partners are conducting research on Community Resilience as part of the REAL Erasmus+ project. Your input is invaluable to us.

Your feedback will help us understand Community Resilience better and make meaningful improvements. It will allow us to support community leaders, volunteer managers, and decision-makers in six European countries by giving them the knowledge, skills, and tools they need to encourage sustainable growth, stronger connections, and active participation, making communities more resilient.

We greatly appreciate your time and insights. Thank you for helping us with this important research!

Our definition of Community Resilience is:

‘A community’s ability to cope with, adapt to, and recover from difficult situations, like natural disasters, economic challenges, or social issues. A community is a group of people who share a common location, interests or goals. Community resilience is about these people working together to solve problems, supporting each other, and finding ways to keep moving forward even when times are tough.’ Find out more at www.volunteer.ie/erasmus

www.transportforireland.ie

Transport for Ireland Services are JAM Card® friendly! The Jam Card® assists customers using the public transport system to make their experience as stress-free as possible. Passengers can simply show their JAM Card® to staff to communicate that they may need more time and understanding when using public transport. The initiative is fully supported by Bus Eireann, Go-Ahead Ireland, LUAS, Dublin Bus, Iarnród Éireann and Local Link.

JAM Card allows people with an invisible disability to discreetly request 'Just A Minute' of patience when they need it.

The JAM Card® was created by NOW Group, a social enterprise that supports people with learning difficulties and autism into jobs with a future and their service users told them that they would like a way to relay to people that they need a little extra time or patience.

Find out more about NOW Group at www.nowgroup.org and JAM Card®

'One Size Fits All' Phone and Electronic Charger Directive now in place

From Department of the Environment, Climate and Communications

New European Commission legislation establishing a common USB-C charging port requirement for mobile phones and other electronic equipment came into effect tomorrow Saturday, 28 December 2024.

This means that devices including handheld mobile phones, tablets, digital cameras, headphones, headsets, handheld videogame consoles, portable speakers, e-readers, keyboards, mice and portable navigation systems placed on the market must use the same charger – putting an end to the need for multiple, different fittings.

The so called 'Common Charger Directive' (Directive 2022/2380) applies to all relevant devices (regardless of brand) placed on the market from 28 December 2024, except for laptops. For laptops the rules will apply from 28 April 2026. This is to give manufacturers of laptops the time needed for redesign and transition to the common charging solution.

The Common Charger Directive will allow consumers to charge devices with any USB-C charger. It will mean that end-users do not have to buy a new charging device when they buy a new mobile phone or a similar item of electronic equipment. The Directive will also ensure that charging speeds are the same when using compatible chargers. When buying a device, consumers will also get the necessary information on charging performance characteristics, and the charging device that can be used with the device.

The Directive will also promote Ireland's move towards a circular economy, by reducing the environmental footprint associated with the production and disposal of chargers.
